THE 'GOLDEN FORMULA' FOR HEALTHY UDDERS.

This product is a unique formula for a soothing and nurturing effect on the udder quarters. It contains a special formula causing the gel to become 'first cold- then hot'.

BEFORE APPLICATION

A healthy cow's udder after it has just been milked. The picture shows that the temperature between the udder and the leg is warmer than the rest of the udder.

COOLING PHASE

This picture shows quite clearly that the udder immediately becomes cooler after the application of the gel.

WARMING PHASE

The cooling phase will normally be ready after about 15 minutes in case the udder is healthy. After this phase, the blood vessels will widen, circulation is stimulated and detoxification commences in the warming phase.

Thermography or infrared photography measures the temperature and changes in temperature within the body, using a special heat sensitive (infra red) camera. Thermography is completely painless and shows the differences between low and high temperatures. In the colourful pictures above, the differences in temperature are well visible after using the Maxi Mint gel.
